CORBETT DOESN'T FORGET PORT EWEN

Gossip Letter From Port Ewen Young Man Who is Anxious to Float Over Berlin in a Balloon.

25th Balloon Co., Aviation Fields, Fort Sill, Okla., Feb. 28, 1918.

To the loved ones at home: Received your most welcome letter a few days ago, and owing to the fact that I have been very busy I could not find time to write anyone. I suppose the fellows are all finished working on the ice or are they still cutting? I now like army life much better as I am rigging ropes for the balloon. It is very hard and is a clean job.

Well, at last we are out of quarantine. I was lost when they let me out without a guard Monday morning. A few other fellows and myself went to a town by the name of Lawton, which is the nearest town. While down there we went to a dance and had a fine time. We also met quite a few nice girls and expect to go down soon again. Tell Jim G. I would like to hear from him. I would write him but I don't know his address. I understand we are to leave this camp soon for New York or Virginia. Of course we hear so much around here that we can't believe everything. Suppose Ann and the rest of the girls are still having the party. If so, I only wish I were there to attend them, but you see I'm a long, long way from home. I hear you are going to lose Flynn and the rest of the boys, but never mind. It won't be long before we'll all come back over the top. If you could only see the way we drill in our balloon one would think it a-kinch, but when it comes to being drilled we just have to keep our ears and eyes open all the time.

Tell Kentucky and Tim to tell the bunch I received the box yesterday, and thank them all for it. Every thing is very useful. I had a letter from Millie and she sure is one good kid for helping to fix that most wonderful kit. Tell Frank Tucker I will write him later. Ask Rip how many nights he missed from seeing Marie. How is the old boy Hanker Butler? Tell him I was asking for him. Ask Stella if she goes to any more parties.

Flying machines are as common around here as people are in Kingston and most every day there is an accident. Yesterday a machine exploded and fell to the ground, killing two men.

Received a package from Joe. He sure don't forget me. Tell "Munk" to be a good boy and when I come home I will give him my gun and and Paddy can go hunting. Tell Kentucky not to go across the garden too often or he will get the run. Does he still do the horse to the fence?

I had a great chat with a fellow by the name of Griffin while in Texas. He is from Kingston. I also met John Hickey and he sure was glad to meet some one from home.

You all seem to be worrying about me but never mind; we will soon "Coop" Kaiser Bill and then I will come back to dear old Port.

If I go east I expect to get a furlough. If so a few other fellows and myself will take a trip to Port and make "hook."

I suppose the fellows are all gone away or are they going to wait and see a smell of the grass in front of Mickey's old store?

As it is near time to retire I will close. Hoping to hear from the folks at home I will say good night and God bless you all.

I am, your true son,

MATTHEW L. CORBETT.

MOVE TO SUBSIDIZE FARM PRODUCTION

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 13.—Possibilities of cost plus farming appeared on the congressional horizon today.

All of the indications tend to point that an endeavor to secure some sort of government subsidy for the farmer will result from the food production hearings which are being conducted now by the senate committee on agriculture.

Senator Gore of Oklahoma, chairman of the committee, is careful to question every witness, representing the food producers, what their attitude would be towards cost plus production. Thus far the answers to the question have shown that the farmers would welcome such a movement on the part of the government. "Antitrusts and shipyards have been built upon cost plus contracts," Senator Gore said today, "and since food is no necessary to the success of the war, there is no reason why the farmer shouldn't be given the same opportunity." Senator Gore has suggested that the farmers should have at least a seven percent guarantee.

NO PROTESTS MADE TO "DRY" ORDER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, March 13.—A strange phenomena is disclosed as a result of Secretary Daniels' drastic order closing the saloons within a five mile radius of permanent training camps which goes into effect Saturday, March 16.

Not a single organized protest has been received by the department against the enactment of the law. The only movement that could be classed as a protest was the reception of a committee of Annapolis saloon men headed by their congressman, which asked for further time in order to close out their business.

As far as is known there is but one brewery affected by this order and its owner could not protest the order but asked in a roundabout manner if the order affected his establishment in the manufacture of beer and its sale to private families, in the city. He was informed that the brewery would have to close.

The Paris Aid Raid.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, March 13.—The German air raid over Paris on Monday night took a heavier toll of human life than at first believed. Twenty-nine persons were killed by bombs in the city, while 66 others died from suffocation during a panic in the underground railway. Five others were killed in the suburbs. More than 15 persons were injured.

Baker Leaves Paris Today.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, March 13.—Newton D. Baker, the American secretary of war, is scheduled to leave Paris today for a visit to the American front. The newspaper Liberte in its comment upon the American official's visit says that it is further proof that America intends to throw all her strength on the western front to offset the collapse of Russia.

DEMGEN ENJOYS Y.M.C.A. IN FRANCE

Boudant Man in the Medical Department Tells of Life in a French City—Meets Many Kingston Men.

Somewhere in France, Feb. 21.

While at the Y. M. C. A. this evening I thought I would drop you a few lines, a few notes, regarding the great work the Y. M. C. A. people are doing over here in France. I have stopped off at several large cities and they all have large buildings, some places they had two. At one place I was at they had concert or entertainments every night. I am now located permanently at a large Medical Supply Depot and on the 14th of this month the man in charge at the Y. M. C. A. here arranged a concert. There were three in the party, all under U. S. flag. They were on their way back from the front entertaining the boys, and are now going around the different camps all over France giving these concerts. Mrs. Talbot, the pianist, and her daughter, the great artist on the violin, who studied at a school of music in Paris, gave several great selections which were applauded greatly by all the boys. Also Scotty Jack sang some great and very good songs. Scotty is the man that sang for the famous Pathe records in Paris for years. We kept him busy also. Every week we have some kind of a show which always turns out well. I must say that the concert given was certainly great in all ways. The violinist played some very classical pieces such as "Thais" and many others.

We also have twice a week at the "Y." French classes and most all the boys attend same; all free for us boys. They are doing all they can possibly do to make it like home to us boys. The boys spend a great deal of the evenings writing letters, singing, playing the piano, and such enjoyments. They have a canteen, also; can buy tobacco, chewing gum, cigarettes and some good chocolates. Just like home at the "Y" and believe me the boys certainly appreciate it in all ways. If the Kingston people could only be here and see how we enjoy the evenings at the "Y," and when we all get back to the states the Y. M. C. A. will be the strongest organization in the world, as all the boys say. When I get back to the states I will certainly join the Y. M. C. A. all right, as it did me a lot of good while I have been in France.

A few words about camp now. The office I am in consists of a large number, and believe me we are all kept very busy. You can hear about 30 to 35 typewriters going during the day. We work from 8 to 5 p. m., and Sundays off. We sleep at hotels and the big town clock gets us up on mornings. We have to be in quarters at 8:30 and Sundays 9 p. m. They are very strict here about being in at that time. We also must be dressed well, cleaned shoes, shaved well up every day, etc. Certainly am meeting some dandy fellows from all over the country. The cats here are very, very good. All American food.

I think it is the best thing for all young men to do is to enlist now as they will never regret it. I am feeling better than ever before. The climate is cold mornings and nights, but during the day it is just like summer days. The nights here at 9 and 10 o'clock are just like day. I have seen some very pretty chateaux while over here. A great many houses here are built what they call twin residence. I may add also that there are very pretty girls all over France. Another thing, it was great to see an American locomotive here. All the boys took hats off and it reminds us all of the states like the New York Central. When we traveled here we rode in the best class also. The women are all dressed in black and have white caps on. Don't see many men at all.

When we go to the hotel and give the waiter 20 in our money for a tip, he does not know what to make of it. In New York they look for 50c and more. Everything is very high over here also. If here in service for four months I understand now we will have seven days off doing nothing at all but go to a rest camp and take it easy. We don't see any wagons here, all cars, not any horse to amount to anything, all mules, and dogs pulling the carts to the markets. On Sunday is the day we see this done; they all come in from the country. Nights we often feel very hungry before going to bed but cannot make it any more like we used to do it in the states. We all stay up late and talk about the different places and times we have had in the states.

I have met quite a few Kingston fellows over here already. It seems good to see them here. It seems good also to eat with silver plates, spoons, forks and knife; before we used the regular army mess kit outfit. Sundays we take long walks in the country and the farmers are all hard at work. All young boys do the work. I may add also that in the rooms at the hotels and we have a large fire place and we make good use of same at night by burning American coal also. Many thanks for this kind favor.

Regards to all. A Kingstonian enlisted young man since December 2, 1917.

WAR AT A GLANCE

Heavy cannonades were carried out by the Germans last night in the sectors of Messines, Loos, Passchendaele and Cambrai, according to the official statement issued by the war office today.

Near Lens the British made a successful raid, penetrating the German trenches and capturing some prisoners.

At Armentieres on the Franco-Belgian frontiers, the German carried out a raid with strong forces. A few British soldiers are missing.

The Germans are using artillery ammunition with a lavish hand all along the front, but so far they have made no decisive move towards an offensive. It has now been three months since the Germans began to advertise their long heralded drive on the western front, but in all that time operations have been confined only to raids and artillery work. There have been numerous occasions in the meantime when troop movements behind the German lines led to reports that the offensive was imminent, but these always proved unfounded.

The weather has improved but even this has not proved a decisive factor.

There is a disposition on the part of the military critics to believe that the German army chiefs are awaiting results in Russia before undertaking any big operations in the west.

Copenhagen.—The Germans may be planning operations against the Russian fleet in the Baltic Sea, according to a report received here today. There is believed to be a big German squadron in Finnish waters while the exact whereabouts of the Russian fleet are unknown. At last reports some of the Russian fleet was at Viborg while other parts of it were lying off Petrograd.

A Miniature Pond.

For some time conditions under foot at St. James and Fair streets have been very bad. At one of the corners every now and then there is a little show a miniature pond springing up from somewhere.

Ever Popular Marble Game.

Marbles, the national kid game, is now the favorite outdoor sport with the youngsters, and even some of the girls are playing. Muddy spots and even puddles do not seem to handicap the players.

A Practical Idea.

There is an upturn merchant that changes his show window display three times a week. This seems like a practical idea. Many of the merchants do not realize the advertising value of a show window.

Word has been received in this city of the safe arrival of George P. Vogel somewhere in France. Mr. Vogel's home is 61 Henry street. He enlisted in an engineer corps.

According to word received here Devall Dunbar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Dunbar of Brewster street, who is a member of the 15th Company Motor Battalion, has arrived safe "somewhere in France."

Word was received this morning by Miss Lillian Whitaker of the safe arrival of her brother, William Whitaker, overseas. Mr. Whitaker is on a United States transport. He enlisted in the naval militia at Poughkeepsie last July and in that time has been across three times.

Word has been received by Harry Vogel, of this city, of the safe arrival of Bernard Alcon overseas. The announcement received was the regulation card which the men are allowed to mail just before sailing, but which is held at the army post office until word has been received by the government of their safe arrival "over there," when it is returned.

TWO REGISTRATION DAYS THIS YEAR

That is Provided a Local Option Election is Held in April—Days for Registration are April 5 and 6.

—Dry Petition Not Filed.

City Clerk Doremus received a copy of the election law this morning which provides that if a local option election is held in Kingston in April that there shall be two days of registration. The days set apart for registration are Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6. The election if held will occur on April 16.

Up to noon today the "drys" had not filed the petition calling for this special election. It is said that they have secured the requisite number of signers, however, although this could not be verified.

If an election is held in April it means that women will be given a chance to vote. In order to vote, they, like the men, will have to register on the day mentioned. Ontario will hold a special election in April having recently filed the required petition.

BILL TO SIMPLIFY SOLDIERS' VOTING

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 13.—The senate took up the Arctezinger bill today to amend the election law to facilitate the taking of the soldier vote. Senator Nicoll asked a hearing on it, saying that there was objection to setting the primary date forward two weeks.

Senator Arctezinger explained that the bill was composite opinion of those who handled the taking of the soldier vote last year. Objection to the form of ballot also was voiced by several senators. It was finally sent back to the judiciary committee for reconsideration.

"I'M COMING" SAID WALSH

And the Germans Who Dared Him Out Did Not Live Long Enough to Regret It.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

With the American Army in France, March 13.—Sergeant Patrick Walsh of Detroit, Mich., who recently distinguished himself during a German raid on the American front, has been selected to be orderly to Secretary of War Baker during his trip in France.

During a recent German raid on the Toul front a German captain in command of the raiders shouted into the entrance of an American dugout: "Come out, Americans."

"I'm coming," replied Walsh. He emerged with a forty-five calibre automatic pistol in his hand and fired a bullet into the German captain's body which killed him. The incident occurred during the raid on March 1.

Walsh was among the six Americans recently decorated by Premier Clemenceau with the French war cross.

The killing of the German captain was not the only exploit of Sergeant Walsh, however.

When all of the American officers on the raid salient had been killed or wounded Walsh took command, and put a bullet into a German, dispersing a group of enemies that was trying to capture him and others in a dugout. Walsh thus saved the log book that had been entrusted to his keeping.

Walsh has seen thirty years service under the Stars and Stripes. He had an opportunity for retirement before coming to France but spurned it. He wears his bronze medal modestly under his trench coat and when his companions seek to "kid" him and ask him why, he invariably replies: "Oh, I'm chilly."

On Monday morning a platoon of Americans on the Lorraine front east of Lunerville entered the same German positions that had been raided on Saturday night and found them still evacuated. The reconnaissance had been made to ascertain if reports that the enemy had retired from his front line were true.

Unhindered by any bombardment and unprotected by any barrage fire the American detachment crossed "No Man's Land" and traversed the lanes through the German barbed wire unopposed. Not a shot was fired at them. The doughboys reconnoitered a considerable distance along the advanced lines and even penetrated the position to a certain depth without encountering any Boches. They then returned to their own lines without having sustained any casualties.

It is believed that the American raid on the Toul front on Monday morning forestalled a contemplated incursion by the enemy. Our bombardment was heavier than that of the Germans and probably upset their plans. During the night and again at 5 o'clock Monday morning the Germans put down a heavy and destructive fire such as usually precedes an infantry attack.

American batteries came into action, however, practically overwhelming the enemy's fire. Our bombardment lasted from 6:30 until 7. Although no prisoners were made and the enemy's first lines were deserted, the American raiders saw much material evidence of the destructive work of our artillery. Disembodied bodies and human arms and legs were scattered all about.

The Krupp gunners showed some confusion and delay in switching from the regular bombardment to barrage fire and their gun work proved very inefficient.

Later in the day the Boches threw some mustard gas shells into the Americans' advanced lines.

An American patrol prowling around in No Man's Land picked up, and brought in a sniper's "camouflaged suit" and steel shield, which had evidently been discarded when the situation became too hot for him. The suit was made of netting and grass with a wig of straw. It gave the appearance of a scarecrow to the American sergeant who tried it on.

There was considerable activity on Monday, the observers reporting that the Germans have evidently evacuated the first line trenches raided by French and American troops on Saturday night. Except for a few German patrols passing through the advanced trenches no enemy troops were sighted.

During the past fortnight the Lorraine sector has been one of the most active on the entire front. About 10,000 shells have been thrown daily by each side. Prior to that it was one of the quietest.

FRENCH AIRMEN RAID GERMANS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, March 13.—While German aeroplanes were attacking Paris on Monday night French machines raided German military aerodromes in the rear of the German lines. It was officially announced today. Many tons of bombs were dropped and it is believed that much damage was done. It is now learned that at least five of the German machines were shot down.

The Germans employed the Gotha airplanes, the same type as used in attacking London.

STILL TRAILING WOMEN SPIES

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 13.—No arrests of women under surveillance by federal officers who are attempting to set at the bottom of the German spy system in this country were announced today. It is still believed, however, that one is imminent.

The Turkish woman, who is being detained at an uptown hotel, is not held on a direct charge, but it is said the government is paying for her suit. It is hoped she may give officials information regarding charges which have been made abroad, implicating an American girl who is widely known both in this country and in Europe.

If secret service men can obtain the information they are after it is said a number of persons socially prominent may be involved.

William Kerthaus, the German deserter, who has been in custody several weeks, will be taken to a southern detention camp Friday and held there for the duration of the war, it was announced today.

INCOME TAX BLANK FIXES $1,000 LIMIT

Published Statement That Persons Who Received $800 or More Is Wrong Because the Law Has Not Been Changed.

A local publication insists that "Every man and woman who has received in 1917 an income from any source or sources, a total of $800 or more must file a statement," under the income tax law, but there is no necessity for anyone being misled by that statement, as the law has not changed since it was announced in The Freeman some time ago.

If, for any reason, any person is in doubt as to what is required, all that is necessary for them is to go to the court house and procure from either Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Ward or LeFever a copy of Form 1040-A, which is the form used in making the return on net incomes of not more than $3,000, and they can read for themselves what the official form states.

The form is headed:

"Form 1040-A."

Under it are the words:

"United States Internal Revenue."

Below that, in black-faced type, is printed:

"Individual Income Tax Return for Calendar Year, 1917."

"For Net Incomes of Not More Than $3,000."

Underneath that appears the word, "Instructions," beneath which is printed the following:

"How to decide whether you must make a return."

"If you are a citizen or resident of the United States and your net income for 1917 (to be shown on line 13, page 4) equaled or exceeded $800, you are married and live with your wife (or husband), or $1,000 if you are not married or do not live with your wife (or husband), you must make a return, either on this form or on Form 1040."

"If your net income plus the net income of your wife (or husband) and dependent children (if any) amounted to $2,000 or more, all such income must be reported, either on one form or on separate forms. Income of wife (or husband) and children should be classified in the same manner as your own income."

"Income of dependent children must be included in their father's or mother's return unless such income was derived from a separate estate under control of a guardian, trustee, or other fiduciary. Income of a minor or incompetent, derived from a separate estate, must be reported by his legal representative."

The balance of the first page is taken up with instructions as to the method to be followed in filling out the return.

RED CROSS CARE FOR CHILDREN

"Les Caves! Les Caves! I want to go in the cellar!"

Shrill cries from Jean and Marie and Felix and hundreds of other French youngsters, huddled together in little frightened groups, answered the booming of the big guns, the crackle of the mitrailleuses, and the intermittent hum of a Boche airplane.

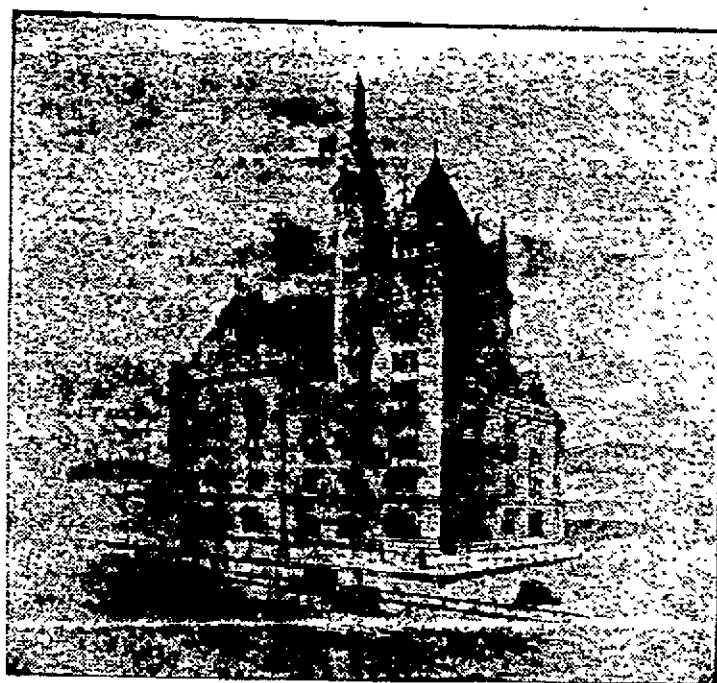

The children were gathered in the old fort on the hill, overlooking a town very close to the front, where the Red Cross takes care of them. The cathedral bell had tolled for five minutes, though you could hardly hear it from the roar of the guns, and the street had blown. Then the people in the town below had scurried to their cellars, for that was a warning of a raid coming.

But up on the hill there were no cellars to go in, and the children clung to the skirts of the nurses in terror. In the cellar they would have been quite content and unafraid. For more months than they could remember they had been living in cellars in the little shell-swept villages near the town, and sometimes in dug-outs in the hills. But the Red Cross and the prefect had taken them away from their homes, and now there were no cellars.

A dozen little girls crowded into one big bed. With the bed clothes over their heads it was dark; perhaps the bomb wouldn't get them there. Half an hour seemed ten hours.

Then the guns stopped firing, and it was quiet again. The Boche had gone. Only the restless search-lights still guarded the sky.

Below there in the town a tenement house had been cut in two. A gully had come all the way from Salonica, two thousand miles away,

The plaza is a semi-public development project of Albany's water line and the new Journal building erected at a cost of nearly half a million dollars, is one of the features of the general improvement scheme. A general and cordial invitation is extended by the Journal to all its friends to visit and inspect its new home.

to see his wife and three children. But the German bombs found them first.

On the hill the children were safe—this time. You can't always be safe from bombs when the Boche carries them. But the children are always safe from guns and disease and gas and filth and hunger. So much safety the Red Cross can and does give them for the sake of tomorrow in France.

Forceful Questions

The national prohibition is absolutely foreign and false to the spirit of the constitution and the liberty that is the foundation stone of our form of government.

No majority can dictate what the minority shall drink, if there be a minority upon this question.

The adoption of a national prohibition amendment would mean the throwing of hundreds and thousands of hands out of employment, without the least consideration shown to the men to make a living at any other industries.

Many of the men employed in the brewing industries have worked from 20 to 30 years, and after all these years to be compelled to look for work at another industry would make them appear as new beginners, and very little if any chance would be given them, from them. Is anyone to look after the families dependent upon support? What is to become of these men, and them? Does the State or Nation make any provision for them? Not at all! They are simply to be left to drift for themselves.

I believe in controlling the liquor business to such an extent that it would do away with the evil which arises from the sale of too much liquors, but I don't believe in throwing out the men engaged in the brewing industries to make them all suffer on account of a few men or women who may get drunk sometime or other.

MC NALLY WINS IN COURT OF APPEALS

Test Case Arising Under Workmen's Compensation as Result of Accident at Saugerties Decided in Favor of Workman.

The court of appeals at Albany on Tuesday handed down a decision in the matter of the claim of Charles McNally, claimant-appellant, against the Diamond Mills Paper Company, alleged employer, and the Employers' Mutual Insurance Company of New York, insurance carrier, defendants-respondents, which was recently argued before them.

The appeal to the court of appeals was taken by McNally from an order of the appellate division of the third department, reversing an award in favor of the claimant and dismissing his claim. McNally's claim was for compensation under the Employer's Liability Act for injuries sustained by him while he was engaged in uncrating a dynamo which was being installed in the mills of the Diamond Mills Paper Company at Saugerties on December 18, 1914. The State Industrial Commission in July of last year made an award to him at the rate of $12.46 weekly for a period of sixteen weeks, and continued the claim for further hearing.

In making an award to McNally, the State Industrial Commission reversed a former decision which they had made in his case denying him any award. The order denying the award was made in April, 1916, at which time McNally had not been represented by counsel, and the matter was re-opened by the commission in order that proof might be taken at hearings at which he was represented by an attorney. The appeal was argued in the appellate division in March of last year and decided last May. In December a motion was made by the defendants to dismiss McNally's appeal on the ground that the order of the appellate division was not appealable, but the motion was denied.

Prior to the accident, McNally had been employed at the Diamond Mills for fifteen years. He had been laid off four days before the accident but was re-employed two days later to assist in moving the new machinery which was being installed.

The appellate division dismissed the claim on the ground that McNally did not come within the protection of the workmen's compensation law; that his employment was of a special character, and installing the engine on which work he was employed at the time of the accident, had no relation to the hazards of paper making except that it increased the facilities for that purpose.

The court of appeals has reversed the order of the appellate division and affirms the award made by the State Industrial Commission, with costs in that court and in the appellate division. The opinion of the court of appeals is written by Judge Cardozo. The case from its inception has been regarded as a test case. Frederick E. W. Darrow has represented McNally since the re-opening of his claim by the State Industrial Commission after it had been dismissed. Joseph A. Blauvelt of New York city represented the insurance company and E. C. Aiken represented the attorney general, who appeared for the State Industrial Commission.

WOMEN'S FEDERATION INVITES PUBLIC

At the executive committee meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs held on Tuesday morning, it was decided, in view of both the speaker and the subject to be presented at the meeting on Saturday afternoon, to invite the general public, both men and women, to be present at that meeting which will be held at 3 o'clock in the chapel of the First Dutch Church. The speaker, Miss Helen Varick Boswell of New York has a wide reputation as a forceful, pleasant and informing speaker, especially on the subject chosen for this address, with which she is particularly conversant. She will speak on "The Attitude of Women Towards Industrial Relations," as a vital part of the National Industrial Conservation Movement, in whose interests she is now giving her services as her patriotic "bit."

Practically all authorities who have applied themselves to a study of America's industrial needs, are of the opinion that class antagonism is responsible for all the industrial and social evils of the day. This class spirit has in the past fostered the friction between capital and labor which costs the country about a billion dollars a year; has widened the breach between government and the industries, with the result that a myriad of legal harassments have impeded industrial enterprises, and, last, but not least, has strained the relationship between the consumer and the producer. All of this is particularly true at this war time period in our history, and Miss Boswell will come with a message telling of practical ways and means of overcoming some of these class difficulties, and adjusting the three cornered problem of capital, labor and consumer. The Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Hyman Rosas, president, are desirous of giving to the general public of Kingston the privilege of hearing this woman who speaks with the authority of investigation, research, and actual knowledge, tell what the womanhood of the country can do to help solve this, now imperative industrial problem.

During the business session of yesterday morning, it was announced that the local Federation had been asked, as have been all Federations in the state, to provide for the inspection of all movie theatres in the city, during the coming week. Ventilation, sanitation, service and the pictures themselves will be reported upon, and this report gathered from all over the state for one week, will be compiled into a concise and valuable report for the coming Biennial Convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs, with the hope of bettering conditions if needed, and commending such as are good. The executive committee also invited the "Council of the Parent Teachers' Associations in the city to join the local Federation of Women's Clubs. After making all final arrangements for the coming open meeting on Saturday, the meeting adjourned.

FIRST LESSONS.

The underlying principle of Prussianism is adopted by Lenin, head of the de facto Government of Russia, and according to Petrograd dispatches "the world therefore sign any treaty which would enable them (the Russians) to prepare for a new struggle." His ostensible reason for signing any treaty is that it would be useless to furnish a cardboard sword before Hindenburg, and without a people Russia could not provide a new army, but a provisional peace now would facilitate the evacuation of Petrograd and save war material indispensable to the future struggle.

In other words, Lenin regards treaties in the same light that the Kaiser does, as a scrap of paper. Lenin has been well schooled by his masters. He knows, as they know, that the foundation of Prussian power in Russia lies in the German peace propaganda. Having disorganized the Russian army, the plan is to effect a peace and enter into a treaty which the Russians are given to understand shall not be binding; then having procured a peace, it will be up to Lenin and the German peace propagandists to point out the necessity of observing treaty obligations and prevent reorganization of any sort except under German direction and probably by German officers, at least by German agents.

No particular sagacity is required to see through the German plan as Lenin is attempting to work it out. It is like watching the plot of a well-staged play unfold; everyone can realize the villainy except the victims. Why do not Russians realize conditions or know that the net of treachery is drawing around them? There are some in Russia who do realize, who do know, but they comprise a small minority. Americans are quick to realize political conditions, partly because political forms so much a part of their everyday life, partly because they are kept fully alive to world conditions by newspapers and magazines, partly because in a democracy every citizen is spurred to exercise his reasoning powers, to whose aid he brings all the knowledge he has acquired.

Only about twenty per cent of the people of Russia can read and write. Literacy in America is extremely small; American knowledge furnishes ammunition for the American reasoning power. Even America is not free from the demagogue and his influence despite general distribution of knowledge and reasoning ability. So the effect of demagogues upon Russians is not difficult to trace. The reasoning power of the mass of Russian people remaining undeveloped, they are at a loss to discern the treachery of German propaganda or to detect and expose the subtle knavery of Prussian promises, particularly when made by traitorous Russians in the Prussian employ. It is the absence of reasoning power which has made the Russians conspicuous and remarked on by all travelers for their docility or to be more candid, their inability. It is knowledge of this condition which has caused the German propagandists to busy themselves throughout the Russian provinces.

The undeveloped condition of Russia so far as education and the development of reason is concerned is due entirely to centuries of oppression, the only difference between Russian and Prussian oppression, however, being that Russia forbade her subjects to think while Prussia has been teaching Germans to think along certain specified lines and to adopt approved philosophy whose keynote is German domination of the world. The ruling class in Russia to a large extent has been dominated by German Kultur and the German court at Berlin. That class paid and still is paying the price of its subjection of the masses in Russia. Had there been independence among the ruling class in Russia, the masses could have been led eventually by the own people to the formation of a sound government and successful resistance against German invasion. But that class was not independent, and before the real leaders of the movement for Russian freedom could perfect their plans, German propaganda had misled the masses and the present Bolshevik government was instituted by Berlin as a mask to an old and spiked helmet of Prussianism. Germany attempts to sound her conquered country on the principle that treaties must be regarded merely as makeshifts for military force. Eventually Germany may learn to its cost the unsoundness of that policy in Russia, but a long campaign of education in Russia will be necessary to awaken Russia to a realization that the only stable principle for government is equity, justice and truth.

Steady, gradual assimilation of very small groups of men as room for them develops in the cantonments in the manner in which the second National Army will be raised, according to Washington announcement, and there will be no set date when the second draft will begin. The plan will be less spectacular than the method by which the first National Army was raised but efficiency will be increased and congestion of cantonments and transportation lines avoided. Under this plan the National Army cantonments at all times will be in process of training men, but there will be no hand there at all times sufficient men whose instruction will have progressed far enough to allow them to instruct the newcomers. The result is a steady, dependable stream of soldiers entering and emerging from cantonments, thoroughly trained and ready for immediate service in France. The new plan is the outgrowth of experience in raising the first National Army. But few men living can remember the draft days of the Civil War; raising an army for the Spanish war was a slight task because of the size of the army then required and the number of men serving in the National Guard of all States; something of a spectacular nature was needed in raising the National Army by draft to impress on America that our young men were going away in large numbers, leaving a vacancy in industrial and social life that would not be filled. Experience teaches many valuable lessons. Among them, in war time, is the lesson of providing a sufficient and dependable reserve, whether it be of men, munitions or other supplies. So far as men are concerned, the dependable and steady supply of experienced soldiers will best be furnished by taking them in service and developing them in the steady, gradual way now planned by Provost Marshal General Crowder.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"On what ground did she sue him for divorce?" "Somewhere in South Dakota, I believe."—Baltimore American.

"Blanks seems to lead a very happy married life." "Yes. His wife can darn, but she can't knit."—Buffalo Express.

Pessimism—"Life is not worth living." Optimism—"You talk like an undertaker trying to drum up trade."—Boston Transcript.

"Are the people who are coming this week-end of any social prominence, either?" "Dear me, no, child. They are all your father's friends."—Life.

"Why did you vote for prohibition?" "Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "after trying both, I decided that a thirder isn't as bad as a headache."—Washington Star.

"This law is a queer business." "How so?" "They swear a man to tell the truth." "What then?" "And every time he shows signs of doing it, some lawyer objects."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"I'm glad they drafted Tilewad. Maybe at last he'll learn to buy when his turn comes." "I don't get your line." "Well, I understand one of the first things they teach a soldier is setting-up exercises."—Judge.

Confidence. Katherine and Margaret found themselves seated next each other at a dinner party and immediately became confidential.

"Jolly told me that you told her that secret I told you not to tell her," whispered Margaret.

"Oh, isn't she the mean thing!" gasped Katherine. "Why, I told her not to tell you!"

"Well," returned Margaret, "I told her I wouldn't tell you she told me—so don't tell her I did!"—New York Evening Post.

Would Believe Anything. "Mrs. Dubwaite found a pink-seeded nut in Mr. Dubwaite's pocket last night."

"Dear me! I presume there was a terrible row."

"No, Mr. Dubwaite convinced her that some of the men in the office had played a practical joke on him."

"Well, well! I imagine being married to a woman as easy to fool as that!"—Exchange.

Placing Him. "Would you say that Glithers, the capitalist, is an honest man?"

"No, I wouldn't say he's an honest man and I wouldn't say he's a dishonest man."

"What sort of fellow is he, then?"

"One of those persons for whose most loyal technicalities were invented."

Impossible. "Did you hear what Jim said?"

"No, what?"

"Went down into the kitchen for a can of laundry soap in mistake for a carved carrot, and never knew the difference until morning."

"That's better yet. No carrot ever tasted that good."

LIBERTY BOND MEN TO MEET IN ALBANY

Bond salesmen who have enlisted in the fifth subdivision of the great army of Liberty Loan workers being organized to canvass the New York federal reserve district during the third Liberty Loan campaign, will hold a "get together" meeting at Albany on Friday.

In building up its organization the Liberty Loan Committee for District No. 5 plans, according to a statement made today by Charles S. Sargent, Jr., chairman, to make special efforts to reach the farmers but at the same time the drive for subscriptions in the larger centers of population will be carried on more intensively than during the last Liberty Loan campaign.

"Experience has shown us," said Mr. Sargent, "where it is possible to expand and strengthen our organization and we intend to do everything possible to make certain that the message of the Third Liberty Loan is carried to every person in our district. This message is one that will make a deeper appeal to the patriotism of every American than any since the war started because nearly every one of us now has a direct personal interest in some brave soldier at the front in France with General Pershing, or soon to join that splendid army, and we know that it is for the purpose of providing the proper equipment—the guns, ammunition, food and clothing which will make for the adequate protection and comfort of those who hold the foremost place in our thoughts, that the government is asking each of us to lend it money by purchasing Liberty Bonds. We have a big task ahead of us but there is no doubt of the result if we all go about it thoroughly and enthusiastically."

In point of territory the fifth subdivision is the largest in the state to cover. Beginning with Clinton and Franklin on the north it extends southward in a long narrow strip, along the Hudson river, including besides the counties mentioned Essex, Hamilton, Warren, Washington, Saratoga, Fulton, Montgomery, Schoenectady, Rensselaer, Albany, Schenectady, Greene, Columbia, Ulster, Dutchess, Orange and Putnam counties.

Earl T. Holsapple of Troy has been made a member of the district committee. The other members besides the chairman, are Harold S. Greene, Duncan Holmes, C. H. Hathaway and Benjamin E. Smythe. Mr. Hathaway will look after the publicity work for the district. The committee will have headquarters in Albany as well as in this city.

VICTORY MENUS.

These menus, planned to conserve time, labor and money, to save the foods that are scarce and use those of which there is an abundance, are victory menus in more senses than one. They are prepared by the Department of Home Economics of the State College of Agriculture and issued by the New York State Food Commission.

Thursday.
Breakfast—Succa, oranges, cornmeal mush, toast, coffee.
Lunch or Supper—Scalloped omelette with cheese, cold slaw, bread crumbs, bread, canned cherries.
Dinner—Liver patties (from left-over liver), stewed dried corn and tomato, victory bread, "Queen of puddings."

Milk for the children to drink at each meal.
(*One or more may be omitted and still have a balanced meal.)

Corn is used in every meal in this menu but its uses have been so varied that one is not conscious of the repetition. With better transportation facilities, the big corn crop is becoming more available. Here are some ways in which corn can be used:

Cornmeal—Mush, cake, bread, muffins, griddle cakes, yeast bread, Indian pudding, brown bread.
Hominy or Sump—Vegetable, breakfast food, griddle cakes, muffins, soup, croquettes, casserole with meat, pudding.
Green, Dried or Canned Corn—Baked corn, succatash, corn oysters, corn fritters, chowder, scalloped corn.

Liver Patties.
2 cups chopped cooked liver, 2 cups mashed potato, 2 tablespoons finely chopped pickles, salt and pepper, coarse, stale bread crumbs.
Mix the liver, the potato and the pickles and season the mixture with salt and pepper. Grease patty pans or cups, sprinkle them with crumbs and fill them with the mixture. Bake the patties for 15 minutes in a hot oven. Turn them out on a serving dish and serve them with brown sauce.

Queen of Puddings.
2 cups hot milk, 2 egg yolks, 1 cup sugar or syrup, 1 cup bread crumbs.
Mix the bread crumbs with the hot milk. Mix the egg yolks with the sugar. Combine the mixtures and bake until the custard has set. When it is done, cover it with a layer of jelly and add a meringue which has been made by beating the egg whites and adding 2 tablespoons of sugar. One egg may be replaced by 1 tablespoon of cornstarch. All of the sugar may be substituted by maple syrup, or honey.

Cuts Grease—Shines Glassware

Washing dishes will be a much easier task if you soften the water with a sprinkle of 20 Mule Team Borax. Watch how quickly it cuts the grease, puts a fine lustre on your china and glassware, and eases that disagreeable task of dish washing. But there are lots of other uses for

20 Mule Team Borax

It takes the rub out of scrub on wash days—makes the clothes fresh, white and sweet smelling. Also makes a delightful antiseptic for the bath—cleanses the pores and removes perspiration odors.

Borax is recommended by the leading authorities on sanitation and hygiene in their published works.

DOWN RIVER BOAT STARTS FRIDAY

Central Hudson Line Plans to Resume Navigation that Day Between Newburgh and New York—Ice
Still Holds Here.

The Central Hudson Line plans to resume navigation between New York and Newburgh on Friday when the steamer Poughkeepsie will make an effort to come up the river from the big city. The Newburgh dock is in no condition yet to be used, although great progress is being made in the replanking and getting it ready, and in the meantime the boat will land at the foot of First street off Kingston Point, the still holds and is about a foot or more thick. Rivermen say that a few more days like today will play havoc with the ice. The Transport is having no difficulty in keeping to her regular schedule back and forth across the river.

The steamer Romona, owned by Charles Webber, which runs between Cortlandt and Hudson, has been bought by the government and as soon as navigation opens the steamer will be taken to New York, where she will be used as a transport around the Brooklyn navy yard.
Although the season for harvesting is well advanced, work was still in progress at McCabe's house in upper Hamburgh on Tuesday on the Hudson river. The ice was a foot thick. At Athens there are also "topping out" operations at the ice house.

If the weather continues as mild as today with the warm sun out it is only a question of time when there will be open water between this port and down river points.

CAPT. ROOSEVELT IS DECORATED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 13.—
Col. Theodore Roosevelt was as happy as a schoolboy today when informed over the telephone from New York that his son, Captain Archie Roosevelt, had been decorated in France for gallantry in action.
"That's bully!" he shouted. "I sure am delighted."

Captain Roosevelt was decorated with the croix de guerre by a French general. Just how young Roosevelt won the decoration is not known.
Col. Roosevelt also stated that it was the first word he had received of his son in a long time.
"Archie was called three weeks ago," the colonel said, "when he baby son arrived, but we have heard nothing from him."
Captain Archibald B. Roosevelt is the third son of Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt.

CROATIA IN STATE OF FERMENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Geneva, Feb. 20.—(By mail)—Political ferment exists in Croatia and anti-Austrian agitations are on the increase, according to information received here today.

The Hungarian newspaper Pesti
Hirnapok prints some interesting revelations concerning the spread of the Jugo-Slav movement in the crownland.
Three newspapers have just started there to spread the Pan-Serb propaganda and apparently the Hungarian government is afraid to suppress them.
A public demonstration was recently held at Agram when King Peter of Serbia was cheered by the crowds.

Croatia lies in southern Hungaria, between the Adriatic and the river Drave. It has long been the seat of agitations for a greater Serbia to include Croatia.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, March 13.—Egopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in their rooms in Spinneweber's Hall on Broadway. The entertainment committee consists of Mrs. Spinneweber, Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. Cutler. A jolly good time and a pleasant evening awaits you. Come and be convinced.
Mrs. Joseph Kenny and Miss Katharine Kenny, who have spent a few days in New York city, have returned to their home on Salem street.
It is to be hoped that the owners of the loose dogs who are allowed to run through yards, destroying healthy conditions, etc., will be made to abide by the laws in Port Ewen as in other places.

The Dorcas Society of the Reformed Church will meet with Miss Blanche Hotelling on Broadway Friday evening, March 15.
Andrew Rodman of New York city attended the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Eliza Rodman, Tuesday afternoon.

The windows in the house of Mrs.
Hannah Myer on Salem street are very attractive to the passerby as the beautiful hyacinths, geraniums, lilacs and tulips are in full bloom, gently beckoning one of the approach of spring.

The Hinky Gurdy.

It seems nearly time that the chimes of the sturdy sturdy, or street band, are heard, for they generally come around as soon as the first days of spring appear.

LOCAL COPS TO PLAY HOME GUARD

Plans Being Laid for Sporting Event of the Season—Will Clash at Indoor Baseball—Proceeds for Red Cross.

It has just leaked out that the real reason why the local police force has taken such an interest in indoor baseball Tuesday afternoons at the Y. M. C. A. is due to the fact that they have accepted a challenge to play a picked team from the Home Guards of the armory to a game at the armory on Thursday evening, March 21, for the benefit of the local Red Cross.

Intense secrecy surrounded police headquarters Tuesday evening when the bare fact that such a game was to be played was given out, but all details as to who would represent the police force was not forthcoming. This, however, is due to the fact that all of the cops are, or rather consider themselves, expert players and it is going to be a different job to pick out the nine best men to uphold the honor of the force.
At the present time considerable rivalry exists between Walker, Ryan and White for the honor of holding down first base. They are the three giants of the department and it is always best to have a big man at the first cushion. Sergeant Hanley and Fout will probably serve the slants with "Gus" Kuehn or "Sime" Wood behind the plate. Chief Wood is also some player and will likely have a place in the lineup while Sergeant Pinney should not be overlooked.
Sergeant Hanley is considered the classiest pitcher of the department at regular out doors baseball but Officer Fout thinks that at indoor baseball he can serve in the same class.
"Rob" Healey is also a pitcher and it will be seen that the cops are well supplied with talent in that department and are also well up in the game.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

On Tuesday morning of this week in assembly, one of the English classes gave the Witch scene taken from Shakespeare's Macbeth. The scene represented Macbeth's first visit to the Witches when they promised him that he was to be Thane of Cawdor and king of Scotland. Macbeth's soliloquy was also given which in the play took place immediately after his interview with the Witches.

The parts were by no means easy to play and the students played them in an extremely commendable manner, especially those who played the parts of the Witches and the student who played the part of Macbeth.

The student who took part were The three Witches, Olga Owens, Dorothy Downer and Catherine Gardner; Macbeth, Joseph McDermott; Banquo, Eugene Ryan; attendants or soldiers, Edwin Kirchner and Irving Guthridge.
The Senior and Junior classes are endeavoring to make arrangements with a Hamilton College Glee Club for the purpose of having a concert in Kingston some time during the first part of April. The concert will be given either on April 3rd or 13th, or on the 20th. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the Red Cross. The definite date will be announced as soon as the classes come to an agreement.

The Juniors are at last going to play the Midgets. Woe to them or the Midgets. One or the other will be defeated, but everybody seems to think that the Midgets are going to win and the majority rules. The game will be held in the near future. The debating team will go to Poughkeepsie on Friday night of this week. At first it was thought that a number of students would accompany the team, but on account of

NEW RULES IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 13.—New rules governing players in the National League, just bulletined by Secretary John A. Heydler, today brought out the fact that the stars of the game must "do their bit" in the times of war.

The new code of rules adopted by the league recently, gives the club owners certain powers regarding discipline and vest greater power in the president of the league in cases where charges are preferred against players by the umpires.
Features of the rules drawn up as war time measures provide that players must take care of all personal baggage to and from the station in the time allowed. Taxicabs at the expense of the ball club are tabooed and an allowance of $1.25 per meal will be the maximum on dining cars.
Players will be obliged to live at hotels selected by their respective clubs while on the road and they will also be obliged to keep uniforms clean. Some players are superstitious about sending uniforms to the laundry, and this rule will probably excite much comment.

The use of intoxicating liquors or cigarettes to excess is covered by the rules and the manager of each club is to be the sole judge in such cases. Injuries received by players when in the service of the club will make them liable to loss of salary for the period during which they are incapacitated.
In cases where players are expelled penalties shall not be put into effect until passed upon by the board of directors. This rule had its origin in the McGraw case last season.

Our Government must have funds to "carry on." These funds can be safely drawn from two sources—in the increased production and increased saving. Buy one War Savings Stamp every week.

MORE COAL AND GAS USED THIS WINTER

There was more coal and gas burned the past winter than ever before in the history of the city. This is due to the fact that there was more steady cold weather than the memory of the oldest inhabitant can recollect of past winters. One of the large retail coal dealers was asked as to the amount he would estimate of the coal consumed and replied that in his opinion fully 25 per cent more coal was burned this winter than last. Superintendent Tobey, of the Kingston Gas & Electric Company, estimated that fully 10 per cent more gas was consumed than last winter. He stated that while on some days considerable more gas was consumed than that he believed the increase was due to a steady growth of the business and the installation of more fixtures in houses throughout the city. The fact that more gas was not used for heating purposes was due solely to the fact that at no time was Kingston entirely without coal, although the supply was scant and customers could only secure small quantities.

The Rev. Mr. Cameron of Rosendale, who has many friends in this city, will be the special preacher at the union Lenten service of the Episcopal Churches which will be held at the Holy Cross Church this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

"Look Out for Paint."

 Flanders can be fed from far off America."

America's surplus of wheat from this year's harvest had all been sent by December. An urgent appeal has again come for 70,000,000 to 90,000,- 000 more bushels. This must be saved from our normal consumption. It has been estimated that already we have saved of this amount about 25,000,000 bushels. If we can save one-third of our usual consumption, we can answer their plea for help."

The fats so necessary for human strength, and for the further production of ammunition, are being guarded more and more carefully.
 We should not use more than 3% of a pound per person per week, and only 6 ounces for children under ten."

Even milk can be furnished from this distance and so we are being asked not to waste a drop. Children must have their full quota but none must be wasted."

This long distance feeding means ships for sending the food and it means the saving of food to send; The former we are building and equipping as fast as possible. The latter we are accomplishing by eating of other things ourselves and sending the wheat, meat, fats and sugar that are best suited for shipping and best fitted to give the most body fuel.
 Surely this is but a small sacrifice for us to make for those soldiers and civilians who, though remote from us in miles, are so close to us in spirit."

Pound For Pound

1 pound corn starch
 5 pounds rolled oats
 2 pounds corn flour
 1 pound hominy
 2 pounds rice flour
 11 pounds buckwheat flour
 12 pounds of wheat flour.

This is one way you might make up your flour purchase. However, there are many other things to choose from.
 You can always use a great deal of corn meal, and that is on the list.
 Any of these which your grocer has can make up part of the order; soy bean meal, barley meal, peanut flour, potato flour. And rice, too, is on the list. Here are a few recipes to help you learn to use these cereals.

Hominy Muffins Made With Corn
 Flour.

On cup cooked hominy, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 1/2 tablespoons shortening, 1 egg, 3/4 cup milk, 2 cups corn flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder.

Mix together hominy, salt, melted shortening, beaten egg and milk. Add flour which has been sifted with baking powder. Beat well and bake in greased muffin tins in hot oven for 25 or 30 minutes.

Oatmeal Biscuits.

Two tablespoons fat, 1 cup oatmeal, 1 cup white flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, liquid.

Mix the fat with the oatmeal and flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder and salt. Add enough liquid to make a soft dough. Turn onto a floured board and roll to about 1/4 inch thickness. Cut with a floured biscuit cutter. Bake about 15 minutes.

Soy Bean Nut Bread.

One and a half cups soy bean meal,
 1 1/2 cups flour, 2-3 cup brown sugar,
 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups buttermilk, 1 cup nutmegs.

Mix and sift all dry ingredients and add the milk. Lastly stir in the chopped nuts. Bake in a loaf 30 or 40 minutes.

Savory Rice.

One cup rice with boiling water to cover well, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 cups tomatoes, 1 small onion, 1 piece green or red pepper.

Wash and drain rice, add to boiling salted water and cook rapidly until soft. Drain. Cook tomatoes, onion, pepper 10 minutes. Add them to rice and steam 20 minutes.

Fighting With Fuel.

By Norreys Jephson O'Connor of The Vigilantes.

The U. S. Destroyer—was buffet-ing a choppy sea. In the distance the green hills of the land originally referred to as the "gem of the ocean" had changed to brownish blue, and both officers and men longed to linger in those kindly shadows instead of facing the keen winds of winter and the stinging spray of thesea; but they remembered their duty to make the ocean safe for all; putting aside their dreams resolutely they faced the task in hand. Not far away glid the convoyed ship upon her lawful journey, the passengers on deck securely wrapped in greatcoats and steamer rugs. Suddenly a cry came from the lookout of the passenger ship, followed almost simultaneously by a similar warning call from the destroyer, and a torpedo foamed past the stern of the crowded steamer.
 All was activity aboard the destroyer:
 Black clouds of smoke leapt from her funnels as she sped quivering forward towards a periscope poised in-silently in a hollow of the waves.
 Bang! Her bow gun spoke with a sharp report, and the periscope disappeared; where it had been, oil lay slimy on the surface of the water.
 A few hours later, one of the officers of the destroyer was writing to his wife, far away in a Massachusetts town: "Today we had a brush with an enemy submarine, and, I am glad to say, we succeeded in sinking her—a success due largely, I believe, to our smoke screen which enabled us to pounce upon her before she could sink us. You wrote me that you were sifting your coal this winter, and I can't tell you how grateful I am that you are doing this—as indeed all men in the navy would be did they know of your patriotic service. Even if you are a little cold at times, you may know when you put cinders on the furnace fire, that you are really stoking the furnace of one of the ships which guards the traffic between American and Europe; you are thus helping to win the war, doing your part to destroy submarines almost as much as the man who actually fires the gun which sinks them."

AN ACT—To amend the general city law in Relation to Power of Cities to borrow or raise moneys to Replace Revenues from Excise Taxes—Introduction in State Senate February 5, 1918.

"The Common Council or other governing body of any city in which trafficking in liquor is prohibited.

"May raise as long as the trafficking in liquor is prohibited an amount not exceeding the revenue (from liquor licenses) granted in the last year excise tax was received.

"Such amount (to be raised every year, shall be included in the Tax Levy in addition to all other sums," etc.

Mr. Taxpayer! If the above were a law the Kingston Tax Levy would include the additional item of $43,506.86. Has it your endorsement on the petition for a local option election?

You still have time to withdraw your signature from the Local Option Election Petition.

The figures already given in this space showing amount of wages paid to cigar makers in Kingston annually would at least be greatly curtailed under local option.

Have you signed your name to the petition that will at least hurt this enormous industry?

Would you even strike those who are paying such enormous sums in wages?

The State law protects altar wines in local option communities!

Would you open the way to test the constitution-ality of that law?

In Albany the Prohis oppose giving electors a vote on nation-wide prohibition. In Kingston they are trying to force the same question for the city to a vote. Is that high moral ethics? Is it honest consistency? Is it not political strategy?

They tell us that the laws of the land do not make it necessary in ratifying amendments to the Federal Constitution. But the Legislature has the right to an expression of the electors to guide their representatives in how to act on the question.
 No federal law forbids that.

Do you want your home ransacked by Prohi Inspectors?

In Bone Dry Canadian provinces officers search homes, clubs, hotels, cellars on warrants which may be issued on suspicion.

Do you want your satchel opened when hurrying from a train?

Do you want rooms in your hotel occupied by guests searched on their arrival?

WHO DISTORTS FACTS IN THIS CAMPAIGN?

The Prohis say Gen. Pershing is a Prohi. They do not tell you he recommended the canteen conducted by the K. of C. and Y. M. C. A.

Congress, as usual, Behind in Work

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 13.—Democratic and Republican leaders of the house conferred today in an effort to arrive at some plan to spur up the lower body. Much legislation of the greatest importance has not been touched. The waterpower legislation recommended by the president in his message to congress has not even been considered in committee.

The Hoover food conservation bill is caught in the jam and its advocates are becoming restive. Much of the benefit of the legislation will be lost, they said, unless it is speedily enacted.

Chairman Sims was prepared today to go before the rules committee to seek a special rule for the consideration of the daylight saving bill already passed by the senate. Four attempts by Sims to have the measure considered by unanimous consent have been defeated. The bill must be enacted before the end of the month, for the plan is to turn the clocks back on March 31.

Representative Baer was worried today over his seed and feed bill. The time is passing rapidly during which its enactment will be of any value, he said. The measure is designed to supply seed and feed to farmers on credit. Passing it in both the house and senate before the spring planting season has passed is barely possible. A special rule for the consideration of this legislation also may be sought.

Dreihelms and Mrs. Edward Wray sang two favorite pieces of Mrs. Hughes, "Waiting and Waiting" and "Some Time We'll Understand." Burial took place at Old Hurler, Ulster county.

The funeral of Miss Teresa Healey was held this morning from her late residence, 48 Foxhall avenue, at 9:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock, where a solemn requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of her soul by the Very Rev. J. J. Hickey; the Rev. Stephen Connolly, as deacon; and the Rev. John McClain as subdeacon. During the service St. Mary's choir rendered their services. New Vapor Way of Treating all Cold Troubles

North Carolina Druggist Invents a Salve That is Vaporized by the Body Heat

NOTHING TO SWALLOW
YOU JUST RUB IT ON

Particularly Valuable to Mothers with Small Children. Local Druggists Are Offering 25c Jars on 30 Days' Trial.

Colds are simply inflammations of the air passages and everybody knows that the only way to reach the air passages direct is by means of vapors that can be inhaled. The old-fashioned vapor treatments however, were cumbersome and costly, but a North Carolina druggist solved this problem by inventing a salve that is vaporized by the body heat.

This preparation, known as Vick's VapoRub, is now being introduced here. The local druggists know the danger of constant "dosing," especially to small children and are anxious that all their customers should try this new "outside" treatment. Arrangements have accordingly been made with the manufacturers to sell the small size jars, price 25c, on 30 days' trial—no charge to be made if the customer is not delighted with the results.

For deep chest colds, sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, or incipient pneumonia VapoRub should be applied over the throat and chest and covered with a warm flannel cloth. The vapors arising carry the medication, with each breath, to the air passages and lungs. In addition VapoRub is absorbed through and stimulates the skin taking out that tightness and soreness in the chest.

For head colds, hay fever, catarrh or asthmatic troubles VapoRub can either be applied up the nostrils or a little melted in a spoon and the vapors inhaled. Coughs are usually relieved within fifteen minutes and one application at bedtime prevents a night attack.

WORKLESS DAYS LATEST REMEDY

Non-Essential Industries May Have to Close Occasionally to Help do

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, March 13.—"State-wide workless days" during the harvest season were advocated this afternoon by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Ousley.

Appearing before the senate committee on agriculture Ousley stated that it would be necessary to close down non-essential industries for a period of fifteen days during the harvest season, in order that workers might be sent to the farms.

"No act of legislation can send the men back to the farms," he declared.

"I believe the business men will have to close their places for days, and even weeks and go into the fields and help harvest the crop."

On being questioned Secretary Ousley said he thought fifteen days not necessarily consecutive, would be a sufficiently long shutdown to relieve the labor shortage. He favored an executive order to bring this about.

"The trouble is the prosperous profit-making cities want to win the war without giving up their convenience. If the cities insist upon having their ease, some one has to go hungry and it won't be the ones who are insisting their ease. Every individual in this country has got to declare war."

Secretary Ousley said that during the last harvest season in the farming regions, merchants and business men had closed their business to go into the fields. This practice, he declared, would have to be made general during the next harvest season. He was inclined to believe it was a matter for state and city action rather than federal action. He explained plans which the department of agriculture has for shifting labor supplies and for the mobilization of all school boys. These plans cannot meet the needs, however, he said.

The acreage this year will be as great as last, Ousley stated, and based his opinion upon a recent tour of the western farming region.

"Farmers are preparing to do their utmost," he said, "and if the law of averages holds good the crops should not decrease."

He admitted that there are large decreases of acreage in the truck regions of the east, but thought that the war gardens movement would offset this decrease.

In answer to questions from Senator Gore, Secretary Ousley failed to approve the conservation campaign of the food administration saying that it was a matter which had been left entirely to the food administration by the department of agriculture.

Secretary Ousley also was closely examined as to the success of price fixing on foodstuffs and said he could only say that he was opposed to it as a policy. He expressed a desire not to be forced to discuss the past actions of any administrative body of the government.

SENATE TO VOTE ON PROHIBITION

Question Will Come Up Wednesday of

Next Week in Upper Branch of the New York State Legislature.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, March 13.—The fight to force the passage of the federal prohibition amendment in the New York state legislature will come up in the New York state senate on next Wednesday.

Immediately after the senate convened today Senator Wellington, one of the "dry" leaders, secured an agreement with Majority Leader Brown to bring up his motion to discharge the committee on that day.

Senator Wellington first requested that the matter come up Tuesday but Senator Brown said that it would be impossible for all senators to be present on that day. He agreed that all of the prohibition measures "wet" or "dry" be debated Wednesday immediately before the third reading calendar is taken up. Senator Brown, however, stip

ARCHIE ROOSEVELT WOUNDED IN FRANCE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Oyster Bay, March 13.—Captain Archie Roosevelt, son of Col. Theodore Roosevelt, has been wounded in action in France.

Col. Roosevelt received a cablegram from Major Theodore Roosevelt, another son, to this effect, this afternoon. The cablegram said that a piece of shrapnel wounded Captain Archie Roosevelt in the arm.

Mrs. Josephine Straloch, Col. Roosevelt's secretary, announced that the cablegram also stated that Captain Roosevelt had been slightly injured in one leg. His arm, it was stated, was broken, but neither injury was regarded as serious.

No details were given as to the engagement in which young Roosevelt took part.

Earlier in the day Col. Roosevelt had received word that Captain Roosevelt had been decorated by the French for bravery. It is assumed that his decoration was received for the part he took in the battle.

DON'T NEED TO BE CHEERED UP

Soldiers are Getting Tired of "Cheer Up" Epistles and Don't Want the War to End Until They Get the Kaiser's Scalp—Interesting Items From the "Gas Attack."

In a recent issue of the "Gas Attack," a magazine published at Camp Wadsworth, South Carolina, by and for the men of the Twenty-seventh Division, appeared the following editorial entitled "What We Want."

We don't know how others may feel about it, but for ourselves we are getting tired of "cheer up" letters. We are growing infinitely weary of receiving letters in which the writers say: "Cheer up, laddies. The war will soon be over and you'll come marching back."

We don't want to be cheered up that way. We don't want the war to end until the Kaiser has been knocked out, and a gigantic wrench flung into the German military machinery, and the world made a habitable place for democratic folk to make merry in.

To distract attention from the all-important necessity of putting through these wholesome reforms, is a harmful act. To tell us to cheer up, the war will soon be over, is not only a piece of false philosophy but it is bad business. Nothing should be allowed to vitiate our efforts in that great outdoor sport, in which all good nations are participating, called walloping the Kaiser.

And so, as we said, we don't want to be cheered up that way. We don't need it. It won't do any good to try to cheer us up, because we are cheered up. We have suffered no real hardships in camp. The people back home have been bending beneath the burdens of heatless, wheeless, lightless, nightless careers, but we here in camp, have thus far not been touched by the cruelties of war. Kitchen police, forsooth, is not a form of entertainment, but it never wiped out a company of soldiers yet. As a matter of fact, if we felt any more chipper we'd be spending our evenings fox-trotting across the grounds singing "This is the life."

It is paved with good intentions. But we aren't taking that road today. Undoubtedly the folks who insist upon cheering us up with promises of an early ending of the war are well intentioned. But their vision could be improved.

Cost of the War.

The following article of what the war will cost this country appeared in the same issue of the "Gas Attack."

It is estimated that this war will cost this nation twenty billions of dollars. This was the value of the whole United States at the end of the Civil War. The estimated value of the nation is now more than two hundred millions of dollars. The cost of the Civil War was 4 billions of dollars, or twenty per cent of the value of the whole country. If the cost of the present war is twenty billions the cost will be less than ten per cent of the value of the country. And yet twenty billions equals the indebtedness of any three of the most indebted nations before the war. The average wealth of per individual in America is $2,000. The debt will be $200 apiece. Our annual national income is about five billions per year. The debt would be less than half a year's income.

Plan a New Theater.

The "Gas Attack" says that the war department's commission on training camp activities plans to build a theater for Camp Wadsworth.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 13.—Trading was dull at the opening of the stock market today, with prices irregular, and generally moving to lower levels. American Telephone was a strong feature, advancing over one point to 102 1/2 while United Cigar Stores dropped 1 1/4 to 85 1/4. Steel Common ranged between 91 and 90 1/4. Bethlehem Steel selling ex-dividend of 2 1/2 per cent dropped 3/4 to 77 1/2 while Baldwin rose to 76 1/2. Reading rose 3/4 to 81 1/4, while St. Paul Preferred dropped one point to 72 1/4. Union Pacific rose 1/4 while St. Paul common sold down to 42. Mexican Petroleum after advancing 1/4 to 97 yielded to 96 1/4. Distillers was in good demand advancing one point to 39. The coppers made fractional gains.

The market was subjected to concentrated bear pressure all through the forenoon but there was no indication that any long stock had been dislodged. American Telephone dropped 2 points to 100 1/4. Reading dropped from 81 1/4 to 80 1/4, rallying to 81, and Marine Preferred, after selling down to 97 1/4, moved up to 98. St. Paul Preferred was the most active of the rally, yielding to 73 1/4, and then advancing to 73 3/4. Steel Common held around 91.

A firmer tone was shown in the afternoon, some issues making moderate gains but business continued extremely small with the leading stocks showing little change. Some of the specialties developed strength. Wilson moving up 1/4 to 56 and Corn Products 1/4 to 36 1/4. American Telephone was in better demand advancing to 103. The steel issues held firm.

The market closed firm today: government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

The moose is the largest living representative of the deer family, and is found in North America. The elk is native of northern Europe and is considered by many zoologists to be the same species, except that it is smaller. A full grown moose may be six and one-half to seven feet tall at the shoulder and weigh 1,000 to 1,500 pounds. On account of endurance and strength the moose is frequently symbolic, persons of unusual power being said to be "as strong as a bull moose."

SPORT STAND IS STILL INFORMAL

Dean Briggs of Harvard Explains New Plan Evolved at Yale Conference.

BIG GALA DAYS ABANDONED

Games Being Arranged to Satisfy Healthful Love of Sport Rather Than for Purely Spectacular or Financial Ends.

An explanation of the new stand on sport taken by Harvard, Yale and Princeton as the result of the conference among Dean Le Baron Briggs, Professor Corwin and Dean McCannan, is made by Dean Briggs in a statement in the Yale News. He declares that sport at the three colleges will be continued on an informal basis, with the exception of schedules. He adds that the term "informal" has been misinterpreted. The dean's statement follows:

"There was a general agreement in our conference as to the wisdom of our procedure with regard to athletics last fall, for we were all glad that the football interests were put aside and that the big games were omitted. If formal collegiate sports are resumed they will be held on as inexpensive a basis as possible. They will not be scheduled for big gala days and will not be as publicly advertised as before, games being arranged with a view to satisfying a healthful love of sport rather than for purely spectacular or financial ends.

Uphold Military Interests.

"The military organizations of the separate colleges and universities are now on a firm basis. By re-establishing formal athletics I think that we can relieve the unnatural strain on the men and generally tone up the college spirit. It is, however, most important to keep the athletic interests interesting with the military duties or interests, and we must further see to it that the public does not misinterpret our action and continue to regard the games as the big events of the college year.

"The newspapers have derided the term 'informal' entirely too much, having quite missed its significance. By re-establishing formal athletics we do not in any way mean to feature athletic contests, nor do we propose to make athletics any less informal as regards their relation to military work. They will be more formal merely in the matter of the resumption of modified schedules with our old competitors. The change, I am sure, will show good results both in the military and athletic interests.

Players in Military Units.

"The decision whether men not in the military organizations of their universities shall or shall not be able to play on the athletic teams of the coming season was left entirely to the authorities at each college, but I can see no reason why the able-bodied man whom we pick to represent us in vigorous outdoor life should not be in the existing military units. In fact, I think it is unfair to Yale to allow her opponents to use men not in the military organizations, and consequently we did not allow one member of the freshman hockey team to play against Yale in Saturday's game, nor will we allow such men to play on future Harvard teams."

Major-General Robert L. Bullard is to be the first of the Lieutenant-Generals to command an army in France. It is reported he was selected for the high command by General Pershing. Major-General Bullard was a colonel in 1916, and his nomination, over the heads of many other men in the service, may be expected in a few days. The great strides in promotion of Major-General Bullard are due to his tried fighting qualities. He has been under fire as the commander of troops in two wars and was the chief of General Pershing in the Mexican border trouble. General Bullard is from Alabama. He served under General Pershing in the Philippines, and also served in the Spanish-American war.

ROGER HORNSBY IS IN CLASS 3 DRAFT

Major-General Robert L. Bullard is to be the first of the Lieutenant-Generals to command an army in France. It is reported he was selected for the high command by General Pershing. Major-General Bullard was a colonel in 1916, and his nomination, over the heads of many other men in the service, may be expected in a few days. The great strides in promotion of Major-General Bullard are due to his tried fighting qualities. He has been under fire as the commander of troops in two wars and was the chief of General Pershing in the Mexican border trouble. General Bullard is from Alabama. He served under General Pershing in the Philippines, and also served in the Spanish-American war.

USING WATER FROM BOTH MAINS TODAY

Repairs to the low pressure water main were completed late Tuesday and today the city is being supplied with water from both the high and low pressure mains. Water users residing in every part of the city will welcome the news that repairs are completed with much satisfaction as the break in the low pressure main which necessitated supplying the city with water from the high pressure main only led to much inconvenience. It is expected that the water pressure during the day will gradually become normal and that those residing on the high points will have no difficulty in securing water at any hour desired.

Soldiers' Superstition.
Cavalrymen have a superstition of their own. A mounted man firmly believes that he will come through the deadliest charge unscathed if he carries on his person the tooth of a war horse, the only condition being that the horse itself has, at some time, been through a charge unhurt.

ACCORD EPIDEMIC MAY SPREAD HERE

Village in Grip of Measles and High School Students From That Place Were Exposed to Disease—Health Board Takes Action.

The village of Accord is in the grip of an epidemic of measles and as a result the epidemic is liable to spread to this city as a number of students from that village, who attend high school here, went home for over Sunday and were exposed to the disease, but returned to Kingston and attended school as usual on Monday. This was the startling discovery made by Dr. Henry Van Hovenberg, the school physician, and reported at the regular monthly meeting of the health board Tuesday evening at the city hall by Commissioner McBride.

Commissioner McBride in outlining the situation as he understood it at Accord said that it was not until Tuesday that Dr. Van Hovenberg became aware of the epidemic in Accord and that some of the high school students had been exposed to the disease and he promptly sent them home, and is taking every measure to prevent an outbreak of measles in the high school.

"There is an apparent lack of quarantine regulations in that section of the county," continued Commissioner McBride, "and I have been told that some of the cases in Accord have not even been reported, and quarantine regulations must be lax or they would have prevented students from the high school going into families having the measles. I think this condition of affairs at Accord should be brought to the attention of the sanitary supervisor. We have no control, of course, over conditions in that village, but it is up to the sanitary supervisor to investigate and find out what the health officer of that town is doing."

"Who is the health officer?" asked one of the commissioners.
"Dr. Fuller of Kerhonkson, I believe," replied Commissioner McBride.

"Have any of our cases of measles been traced to Accord cases?"
"It just broke out," said Plumbing Inspector Dussell, who had been an interested listener.

"It's been going on for some time," interrupted Commissioner McBride, "and some of the cases broke out in school itself and the children were sent home with the measles. At the present time I am told there are only six children left to attend school at Accord."

Reported to Laidlaw.
After some discussion by the board Commissioner McBride moved that the entire matter be referred to Dr. Laidlaw, the sanitary supervisor of the district, to take such action as he deemed necessary, which was unanimously carried.

Lucky It's Not Summer.
Commissioner McBride said that he had another thing he wanted to bring to the attention of the board. He said that before coming to the meeting he had received two complaints from two different sources and while he thought and knew it was out of the jurisdiction of the board, he thought it should be taken up with the health officer of the town. He then went on to explain that there was a man living over the creek on the Sawkill road by the name of Garlick who collects garbage in Kingston and incidentally picking up dead horses, and that is the point I want to take up."

Commissioner McBride said that this man had two or three dead horses laying out in the field near his home. The skins had been removed but the carcasses lay there. "I understand he feeds the carcass to the pigs later and then, sells the pigs to Kingston residents."

"If it was warm weather everybody on North Front street would know about it," added Commissioner McBride sniffing suggestively with his nose.

It was decided to have the health officer of that town notified and asked to remedy conditions.

Crows Carry Garbage.
There was still another matter which Commissioner McBride wanted called to the attention of the board and after the horse question was disposed of he called attention to a man named Bunting who resides at Lucas bridge, near the city hall, who he said had been piling garbage near his back door all winter long. This garbage Bunting collected in Kingston and expected to use it for fertilizer this summer.

"There is a nice little colony up there," remarked Commissioner McBride "and they are sure to catch it when the breezes blow from the north." The commissioner also told an incident of one of the neighbors finding huge lumps of garbage on his porch. It developed that there were large numbers of crows out there and they would alight on this garbage pile and pick up a "choice morsel" and fly to the neighbor's yard to eat it in peace.

After some further talk it developed that Bunting might be in the employ of the city and the matter will be taken up with Superintendent Van Keulen of the board of public works today.

Third Avenue Pigs.
Tony Cardeskie of 56 Third Avenue asked permission of the board to keep pigs.

Commissioner McBride said that in the present situation he was of the opinion that all permits of that kind should be granted provided those desiring to keep pigs complied with the rules and regulations of the health board.

"How about chickens?" asked Commissioner Hattie B. Michael.
"Should be granted under the same conditions," replied Commissioner McBride promptly.

The board unanimously granted Mr. Cardeskie's request.

The health officer for this month is Dr. Daniel Connelly.

Reports of Officers.
There were no other matters brought to the attention of the board and Commissioner McBride said he thought he had done his share of talking. As none of the other commissioners had anything to report upon the reports of the officers of the board were read and the board then adjourned.

THE DEVIL AND THE BABIES.
Confidential Letter From the Devil to the Kaiser.

(Decoded by Eugene H. Blake of The Vigilantes.)
Infernal Palace, Hades.

My Dear Kaiser:
So many people are always saying, "Give the Devil his due," that few people would believe what they heard about our frightfulness, even after you announced you were going in for it to make the inferior nations respect your government. When rumors reached the outside world about bayonetting babies in Belgium, most people dismissed the thought as a lie got up by some newspaper reporter. I wish those allied soldiers had thought it was not so. Each bayoneted baby means ten thousand extra bayoneted German soldiers.

And now, Wilhelm, the evidence is getting stronger than ever against you. What you reckon?

You remember that Captain A. P. Simmons of the United States army, attached to the American embassy in Berlin when we got this war started. You know he was military observer in Germany during the mobilization, and those Americans sent him to Germany because they could trust him.

Home. And here's what he up and tells the Republican Club in New York on January 25th:

"Don't let anyone tell you that German atrocities are merely fiction. One of the most gruesome sights I ever saw was the impaling of babies on the ends of German bayonets and their return to frantic mothers."

Later, he tells those Americans, "We've got to sacrifice till the skin is worn down to the bones of our babies. The dragon is just outside our gates."

You know the Nazarene said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me," and the world has been getting so tender with the kids ever since that's why it's going hard with us now. Wilhelm, my friend, we're up against it. Baker says more than a million more of those American soldiers are ready. They've got the evidence on us. That's what makes me fear every one of them is going to put up a most myself of a fight when they get at us."

K.O.F.C. AND Y.M.C.A. WORKING TOGETHER

How the Organizations Supplement Without Duplicating is Told by Private Nolan in a Letter to Kingston Council.

All Soldiers Welcome. Club Rooms, Waco Council 1358.

Waco, Texas, March 6, 1918. Kingston Council, No. 275, K. of C. Worthby Grand Knight and Brother:—Receiving the Kingston paper daily I have taken a great interest in the campaign about to be launched by Kingston Council to obtain your share of the K. of C. war fund. Having derived some of the benefits this noble undertaking affords we boys in the service, I am sure a word of the camp conditions at Waco will not go amiss at this time.

The K. of C. building at Camp MacArthur is fully equipped, and you may be sure the boys are making the most of it. Every evening there is an entertainment of some sort provided. The reading and writing rooms are always well stocked with plenty of free literature and stationery. I might mention here that the writing room seems to be the most prominent. It is more than inviting with its long tables well supplied with all conveniences for writing, and in order to remind some of the boys who may possibly be a little careless in this respect, a number of very conspicuous signs hang throughout the room, asking the boys how often they write to the dear ones at home, who the constantly thinking of them. Others advise the boys to do so at once. That they are prompted greatly by these little helpers is easily seen by the crowd of fellows who occupy the tables every time I go there. At the aviation camp, which is located on a level tract of land extending out about three miles from the main camp, we have not a K. of C. building as yet. However, as this camp is still in the course of construction, one will be erected in the near future I presume.

Through the courtesy of the Y. M. C. A. the Catholic men have the use of their building each Sunday. We attend mass at 9 o'clock. I have not been able to gain entrance to the building during mass as yet, so many being there ahead of me. In order to acquaint you with the large number of Catholic men in the service of our country today, I will take this camp as an example. We have as near as I can find out about thirty-five hundred men here, and last Sunday our lieutenant estimated roughly that a little over two thousand men attended mass. The Y. M. C. A. building will probably measure about forty feet by eighty feet inside, therefore you can easily see why I have not been able to gain entrance. You can also see the necessity of liberal contributions to this noble K. of C. war fund, which is progressing so rapidly toward the care of thousands of men situated just as we are here. The boys are in earnest, however, in regard to hearing mass, and by opening all the windows on both sides of the building we are all able to witness the holy sacrifice. If our dear ones at home would only hold this noble and patriotic organization as high as it is held by the boys in the service, I am positive their contributions would freely be given.

Trusting this letter will find good old 275 in a flourishing condition, and that unbounded success will crown your efforts in performing your share of one of the greatest and noblest works ever undertaken. I will remain one of the thousands who are partaking of the hospitality your efforts and results afford.

Fraternally yours,
BRO. JOHN A. NOLAN.

Paste on The Pantry Door

By Florence Mary Bennett of The Vigilantes.

The lover of thrift is often confronted by directions for household economy emanating, as trial shows, from abstract rather than practical domestic science. Try these suggestions from an old-fashioned New England housewife:

1. Eggs are not needed for a rice pudding.
2. Milk is not needed in cake made with baking-powder.
3. Milk is not needed for any kind of whole wheat bread. Even when milk abounds and is cheap, water is preferable.
4. Half, or even quarter, of a yeast cake will raise a good amount of bread for baking.
5. "War Cake" which calls for a package of raisins and much shortening is not economical.
6. Do not allow a servant to throw out remnants of Shredded Wheat left in the bottom of the box. More than a cupful is often so lost.
7. An unrefined soup made from remnants of yesterday's meat makes a good meal. No meat course is required therewith.
8. Are you careful to make as many pies as possible from one squinch?
9. Are you careful to offer every end of the white to drain, or to scrape, from an egg which you break?
10. Neither broken crackers nor

Looking into the Future.
An eminent engineer has predicted that in time to come the rivers of the United States will no longer flow as they do today. Each important stream will be merely a series of sluggish lakes, with electric power stations in between. All the little streams will be wiped out, and their waters converted into the great ones that are to supply the heat, light and power of the future.
